

TO MY FRIENDS.

Friends dead and gone—friends far and near—
Friends tried and true—friends ever dear—
Though sundered far, yet all are here—
 Close to my heart;
And all along life's rugged way,
The smile of Friendship crowns the day,
And hearts are young, tho' heads be grey;
 Friends never part!

Yours truly,

John Imrie.